

2010 Cost of Government Report

Prepared for the Utah Taxpayers Association by the Center for Public Lands and Rural Economics at Utah State University

With every dollar earned, citizens do more than just purchase goods and services from the private sector, they also purchase the services of government. How much of every dollar earned do citizens pay for government services? In order to determine the cost of government the Center for Public Lands and Rural Economics at Utah State University calculated population and per capita income data to determine the price of government per dollar earned by taxpayers.

2010 Cost of Government Methodology

If government were a business then citizens would be consumers, purchasing services with their tax dollars and fee payments. But, how much does each citizen end up paying for their government services? What is the price of government?

According to a recent study prepared for the Utah Taxpayers Association by the Center for Public Lands and Rural Economics at Utah State University, every resident in the state of Utah pays $0.1120 of every salary dollar earned for state government services. Residents pay an average of $0.0164 of every salary dollar earned for county services, $0.0179 for school districts and $0.0277 for cities.

In order to determine the cost of government, population and per capita income data was gathered from the US Census Bureau. Government revenue and line item data was collected from the Utah State Auditor's Office. The following equation was used.

Government Revenue – Discounted Line Items

City Population x Per Capita Income

Certain line items of revenue that did not come directly from taxpayers were discounted. These line items included intergovernmental transfers, grants, sales of assets, interest earnings and voluntary contributions.

In addition, the study also determined the cost of government if all government entities were required to obtain all revenue through direct taxation. The same equation was used, except line items were not discounted.

Government Revenue

City Population x Per Capita Income

When all government revenue is included in the calculations, the cost of government dramatically increases. If taxation were the only source of revenue for government entities, residents would pay $0.1598 of every salary dollar to the state government, a 42% increase from the previous total that discounts line items. Without additional revenue from grants, interest earnings and other sources, residents would pay $0.0217 of every salary dollar to counties (32% increase), $0.0498 to school districts (178% increase) and $0.0331 to cities (19% increase).

These findings illuminate the relationship between government as a service provider and citizens as consumers. For every hour worked and dollar earned, citizens do more than just purchase goods and services from the private sector, they also purchase the services of government.
